

Angle 2 — CPF 55 Rule Change: Ad Variants

Campaign Goal: Generate high-intent leads from CPF holders aged 50–58. Lower volume than Angle 1 but significantly higher meeting conversion and ticket size. Framed around policy change urgency + concrete income gap.

Targeting: Singapore, Age 50–58, interests: CPF / retirement planning / government schemes. Budget: 25% of total campaign budget.

Compliance note: Always use "approximately", "may", "projected", "based on current CPF data" — never guarantee payouts.

Ad Variant A — CPF Gap Awareness (Recommended First Test)

Emotional Hook: Security fear + Concrete gap + Time-bound decision

Primary Text:

CPF LIFE at Full Retirement Sum pays approximately S$1,500–1,600 per month.

Most Singaporeans say they need S$2,000–3,500/month to live comfortably in retirement.

That gap — up to S$2,000 every single month — needs to come from somewhere else.

And from 2025, CPF rules have changed: the Special Account closes at 55, the salary ceiling is rising, and contribution rates for workers above 55 are being updated.

Creative Direction: Clean, authoritative. Simple graphic showing two bars: "CPF LIFE FRS payout ~$1,600/month" (shorter bar) vs "Average desired retirement income ~$3,000/month" (taller bar). Clean navy and gold colour scheme. No stock photos — data visual only.

Ad Variant B — SA Closure Confusion Hook

Emotional Hook: Policy change anxiety + Urgency + Expert guidance need

Primary Text:

From January 2025, the CPF Special Account is CLOSED for members aged 55 and above.

Your SA balance has been transferred. The 4% interest rate you relied on is no longer earning in the same way.

Many Singaporeans turning 55 this year are asking: "What actually happened to my money? Did I lose anything? What should I do now?"

If you have S$200,000+ in CPF and are turning 55 in the next 3 years, this matters.

Creative Direction: News-style headline format. Bold black text on white background with a thin red/orange accent bar on left edge (editorial feel). Text graphic: "CPF Rule Change: What 50–58 Year Olds Need to Know in 2025–2026". Feels authoritative, not salesy.

Ad Variant C — Payout Reality Check

Emotional Hook: Social comparison + Fear of not knowing + Calm authority

Primary Text:

Do you know which CPF LIFE tier you're on?

Basic Retirement Sum (BRS): ~S$780–820/month

Full Retirement Sum (FRS): ~S$1,500–1,600/month

Enhanced Retirement Sum (ERS): ~S$3,180–3,410/month

30% of active CPF members turning 55 in 2022 didn't even meet FRS.

Most people don't know which tier they're on — or what the gap means for their lifestyle.

In 15 minutes, I can tell you exactly where you stand, what CPF LIFE may pay you, and whether you have a gap that needs planning. Free. No obligation.

Headline: BRS, FRS or ERS — Which Are You On?

Description: Know your CPF tier and whether you have a retirement income gap. Free 15-min session.

CTA Button: Check My CPF

Creative Direction: Three-tier visual. A simple pyramid or three-step graphic showing BRS → FRS → ERS with payout bands on the right. Clean white background, navy and gold tones. This is a knowledge-first visual — positions you as the expert before any conversation happens.

Ad Variant D — Longevity + Lifestyle Gap

Emotional Hook: Outliving savings fear + Lifestyle protection + Calm but urgent

Primary Text:

CPF LIFE is designed to pay you for life. But "for life" is only part of the story.

For a typical middle-income retiree in Singapore, CPF LIFE covers an estimated 20–50% of total spending needs.

The other 50–80% must come from your personal savings, investments, or other income sources.

With Singapore's cost of living ranked top globally for most of the past decade, that gap is growing — not shrinking.

Testing Recommendation

Variant	Hook Type	Predicted CPL	Best For
A (CPF Gap)	Gap + urgency	S$20–35	Broad awareness
B (SA Closure)	Policy confusion	S$15–30	News-jacking urgency
C (Payout Tiers)	Knowledge gap	S$25–40	Education-first
D (Longevity)	Fear-based	S$20–35	Decision-stage leads

Run Variant B first — it has the strongest news-hook relevance and SA closure is a real and recent event. Run Variant A as a second test. Then compare CPL and meeting conversion rate.
